About The Men's Center

The Twin Cities Men's Center is a non-profit organization supported by donations, contributions at meetings, memberships and grants from various sources.

Established in 1976, the Men's Center exists to help men find support and empowerment from other men and offers a variety of educational forums, peer support groups, and other activities to foster emotional, intellectual, and spiritual growth. A major goal is to serve as a clearinghouse of resources for all Twin Cities men who are freeing, growing and healing.

Our Mission

The Men's Center provides resources for men seeking to grow in body, mind and spirit, and from that foundation advocates for healthier family and community relationships.

Our Values

1. We believe men can and should support each other through times of personal challenge and change.
2. We believe in authenticity, which means acknowledging to ourselves and each other our hopes, fears, strengths and weaknesses as men seeking to grow.
3. We believe in honesty among men, which means men freely expressing themselves emotionally, socially, intellectually and spiritually in ways true to their own growth and masculinities.
4. We believe in respecting diversity and mutuality in our support groups, workshops, conferences and outreach activities which means supporting and empowering all men.
5. We believe in the equality of men and women.
6. We believe in recognizing and appreciating our similarities and differences as humans of all races and national origins, and in the process fostering mutual respect and brotherhood for us all.
7. We believe in the power of our common humanity, which means regardless of our sexual orientations, gender identities, or other issues that separate us, what we have in common transcends our differences.

About the General Men's Issues Support Group

Men attend to share general issues that interfere with healthy living. Feelings, thoughts and opinions are shared about what it means to be a man in our culture, as well as issues for men facing life's challenges and experiences such as personal crisis and loss of meaning and men's health and wellness.

Do you ever feel that your family or friends don't listen to you? Do you have problems with co-workers that you just can't discuss on the job? Do you want to work out some issue but just can't afford a high-priced therapist? Can't find another men's group that is addressing the problems that you'd like to deal with?

Try the General Men's Issues support group where you will find other men who have been through similar life challenges and are always ready to listen. They may even have some experiences of their own that will give you perspective on yourself. Whether it's a relationship issue, legal trouble, parental problems, financial woes, or something else, all issues are welcome in this group.

"I came to the General Men's group years ago when my girlfriend told me she was pregnant ... and she didn't want to see me any more. I was depressed, angry, and ready to do something drastic. Fortunately, the men at this group gave me the help I needed to get myself together. Now two decades later, my child is grown, I have a good relationship, and I am thankful for the good support I received.

If it can help me, it can help you."

About Men's Center Drop-In Support Groups

The Mission of the Men's Center Support Groups is to create a safe place, in times of personal and social challenge, for any men and women to receive and to give support to one another; to share feelings and experiences which facilitates self-acceptance and personal growth.

In this support group you will find no one analyzing you or telling you anything about yourself, in fact, we actively discourage advice giving. What you will hear is other people's experiences, and you will be given the opportunity to tell your story in a confidential and non-judgmental atmosphere of support.

Most importantly, you will be encouraged to take time to examine your feelings about any issue you want; to truly examine who you are on an emotional level (something few men do). We refer to this as "getting some work done" and we think you will find it a truly wonderful experience!

We encourage you to use "I" statements. An example of this is: "I feel angry when you step on my toes." as opposed to "You make me feel angry when you do that." Using "I" statements clearly demonstrates taking responsibility for your feelings. Obvious examples of judging are "You are a mean person." or "People who do that are sick." but many judgments are more subtle. We want to avoid judgment not only because there is no one qualified to judge others' issues, but also we believe it's not our job to declare right from wrong, but rather to help people decide for themselves.

Common Questions

Q. Do I need to pre-register?

A. No, just come when you are ready.

Q. Is it confidential?

A. Yes, participants only use their first name. The Men's Center never reveals attendance information.

Q. Can I bring my partner / wife / lover / friend / roommate?

A. We recommend that people who live together or are in the same love relationship not participate in the same support groups.

Q. How much does the group cost?

A. Funding for the Men's Center comes primarily from memberships and donations from support groups. At the end of every meeting an envelope is passed and we ask for $3-$7, or what ever you can afford that night (no one is ever turned away for lack of funds). Consider membership!

Q. How do I become a member of the Men's Center?

A. Use the All-Purpose Form in this brochure.

Q. Is a support group like therapy?

A. No. In a support group your reality is confirmed and validated. In therapy you are encouraged to change your orientation to the world.

Q. What are the other Men's Center support groups and classes?

A. Anger Management, Bi-Men, Divorce & Uncoupling, Gay Issues, General Men's Issues, Healthy Sexual Boundaries, Retirement, Sexual Trauma & Abuse Survivors, and Transition.

Q. Are there support groups for men outside the Twin Cities Metro?

A. While the Men's Center doesn't currently have any, we do maintain a list of resources on our web site, www.tcmc.org.
